DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mariner et al (US 6,404,982) in view of Rubisch (US 3,553,010).

Mariner shows the resistance-heat boat having a graphite block formed into a boat, a protective barrier formed on the surface of the graphite, and the protective barrier having the nitrogen containing compound, including boron, formed of crystallites. But Mariner does not show the protective barrier having an aluminum-rich compound layer.

Rubisch shows a graphite body provided with a protective barrier including a primary layer and a cover layer wherein the primary layer is a compound of boron, nitrogen, silicon, and the cover layer with an aluminum rich compound. The layers sprayed or painted on the graphite body and are heat treated to form the barrier layer. Rubisch shows that the thickness of the resultant protective barrier of at least 70 micrometers. Rubisch also shows there are other elements associated with the nitrogen containing compound including aluminum, titanium, iron, and oxygen, separately or in combination together which can serve as the catalysts.

In view of Rubisch, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to adapt Mariner with the aluminum-rich compound layer to further increase the thermal resistance as well as the stability with respect to oxidation.

Art Unit: 3742

With respect to claim 8, Rubisch having the claimed thickness in terms of micrometers would also inherently meet the claimed thickness in terms of g/dm^2 .
